He has devoted himself to all aspects of the creative process from the firing techniques, composition of the porcelain, to the design. His passion for porcelain has led him to dedicate his life to creating a unique style – that which is recognized today as Minh Long.

NANOTECHNOLOGY

► For The Consumer Health
While fine porcelain dinner ware products must meet demanding requirements of appearance such as whiteness, roundness, translucence, body hardness and glaze durability, they must also be absolutely safe for consumer use.

Minh Long's answer to the challenge of maintaining a glossy surface that is oil resistant and lead free as well as prohibiting any bacteria from entering the porcelain is: Nanotechnology!

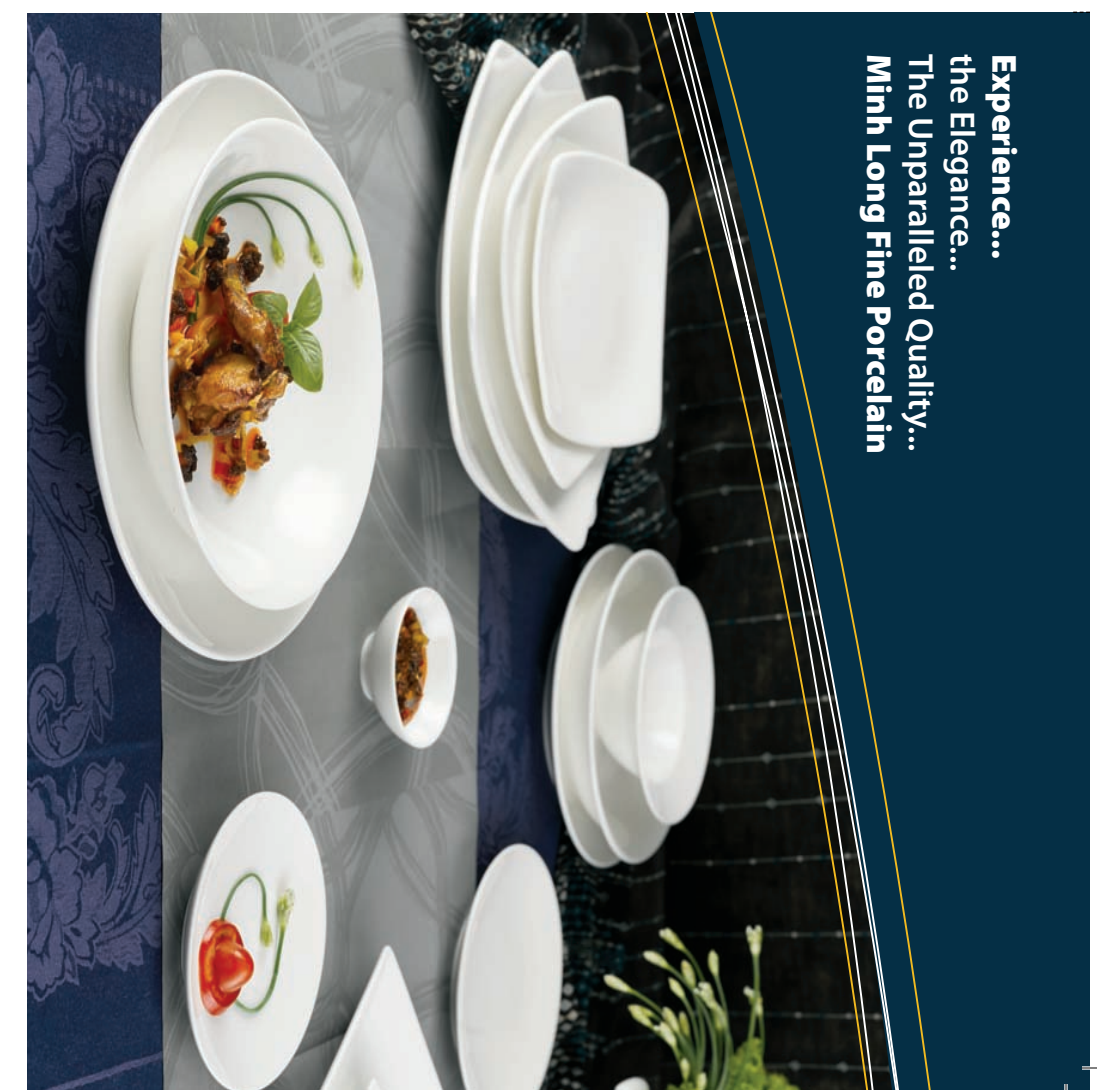

Normally after porcelain is glazed and fired, it still has many tiny pores which create a uneven surface that can't be seen by human eye, and that is where the grease may cling. To eliminate this, we have created a fine particle substance at nano size and added it into our glaze formulation with proportions of 5-10%. With an extremely small size, the nano particles will fill into 90% of the tiny pores on the glaze surface, resulting in increased resistance to grease, oil, and bacteria. So, Minh Long porcelain dinner-ware is completely safe for use.
